Part 8 - Cursed Child Announcement (June 26th 2015)

EXCHANGE 0110 | 10 MESSAGES

J.K. Rowling: Today is a very special day for two reasons. Firstly, Harry Potter and the Philosopher's Stone was published in the UK 18 years ago!

J.K. Rowling: I'm also very excited to confirm today that a new play called Harry Potter and the #CursedChild will be opening in London next year.

J.K. Rowling: It will tell a new story, which is the result of a collaboration between writer Jack Thorne, director John Tiffany and myself. #CursedChild

J.K. Rowling: I don't want to say too much more, because I don't want to spoil what I know will be a real treat for fans. #CursedChild

J.K. Rowling: However, I can say that it is not a prequel! #CursedChild

J.K. Rowling: To answer one inevitable (and reasonable!) question - why isn't #CursedChild a new novel? - I am confident that when audiences see the play

J.K. Rowling: they will agree that it was the only proper medium for the story. #CursedChild

J.K. Rowling: I've had countless offers to extend Harry's story over the years, but Jack, John and Sonia Friedman are a dream team! #CursedChild

J.K. Rowling: It has been a huge pleasure to share with them (and soon, with you!) this untold part of Harry's story. #CursedChild

J.K. Rowling: Oh, that makes me so happy! I'm still talking about it by the code name, can't shake the habit yet!

Jack Thorne: I know exactly what you mean! I feel really really weird saying the words H---y P----r out loud.

J.K. Rowling: Fear of the name, Jack...

Jack Thorne: maybe something involving - like - of the name - I'm stuck - and this is the point when I normally e-mail you!

J.K. Rowling: And I say 'oh God, I had that problem in Goblet', fail to offer any decent solution and you do it!

EXCHANGE 0241 | 9 MESSAGES

FrazzyJazzy7: Why did you pick Snape to name Harry's kid after? I'm genuinely curious as he was nothing but abusive towards everyone.

J.K. Rowling: Snape died for Harry out of love for Lily. Harry paid him tribute in forgiveness and gratitude.

J.K. Rowling: I've got to say this: you lot have been arguing about Snape for years. My timeline just exploded with love & fury yet again. Never change x

Capt Planet: Kind of strange you'd say 'in forgiveness', I mean Snape held no malice against Harry (which Harry came to knew, eventually).

J.K. Rowling: That's not true, I'm afraid. Snape projected his hatred and jealousy of James onto Harry.

J.K. Rowling: There's a whole essay in why Harry gave his son Snape's name, but the decision goes to the heart of who Harry was, post-war.

J.K. Rowling: This morning I've been thinking a lot about the appeal of simple dichotomies in our messy world, then you raise Snape! Highly appropriate.

J.K. Rowling: Snape is all grey. You can't make him a saint: he was vindictive & bullying. You can't make him a devil: he died to save the wizarding world

J.K. Rowling: In honouring Snape, Harry hoped in his heart that he too would be forgiven. The deaths at the Battle of Hogwarts would haunt Harry forever.

J.K. Rowling: (Just come back to Twitter to find the great Snape debate still raging)

J.K. Rowling: Snape didn't die for 'ideals'. He died in an attempt to expiate his own guilt. He could have broken cover at any time to save himself 1/2
